The men of the First Baptist church gave their annual supper in the church parlors last night and it proved to be a success as their suppers in the past have proved. Over two hundred people were served, who pronounced the supper to be of the best. Much of the success is attributed to the young men of the church who acted efficiently as waiters. The following is the menu of the supper: Chicken pie, mashed potatoes, pickles, bread and butter, assorted cake, coffee. The following constituted the committee, who prepared the supper: F. A. Hutchinson, A. S. Shannon, Walton Shields, W. W. Sutton. Between $30 and $35 was cleared from the supper.

Between the hours of seven and ten last night about 150 people attended the sugar social in the vestry of the Congregational church. The social was held under the auspices of the Pilgrim brotherhood of the church. Of added interest was the attendance of the boy scouts of the church, who acted as waiters. The following composed the committee of the brotherhood who had charge of the social: Arthur McNeil, C. H. Granger, J. C. Griggs, Wilbur Shepherd and Arthur Knight.

"The Hospital Baby"—Nearly all the Essanay pictures for some time back have had noticeably fresh scenarios behind them. This is no exception to the rule. The life of a baby in a hospital is saved by a young doctor of the institution who gives some of his blood to her. The doctor becomes very much attracted to the child who is later adopted by wealthy foster parents. They lose track of each other. The doctor becomes famous; the fosterfather dies poor and the child, now grown to a fine young woman, gets employment in the doctor's office as secretary. They do not recognize each other. Some times decoy the doctor to a rough neighborhood with intent to rob him. The girl suspects and leads the police, who arrive in time to capture the gang. The doctor takes the girl home and the foster mother recognizes him. There is a wedding and a memory picture that shows the doctor describing the operation to the girl. This double exposure is very well made. It is a feature picture. It's at Dreamland.
